

About the Authors

Nicholas K. Apostola (Romanian Orthodox Church) is the Chancellor of the Romanian Orthodox Archdiocese in America and Canada. He has taught at Holy Cross Greek Orthodox School of Theology in Brookline, Massachusetts, and at St Vladimir's Orthodox Theological Seminary in Crestwood, New York.

Marie Assaad (Coptic Orthodox Church) is a former Deputy General Secretary of the World Council of Churches.

Elisabeth Behr-Sigel (Ecumenical Patriarchate) is an author, lecturer and long-time Christian activist. Her areas of interest include theology, the ministry of women and spirituality.

Deborah Malacky Belonick (Orthodox Church in America) is an author who frequently lectures on Orthodox theology, anthropology, spirituality and feminism.

Tamar Dasnabedian (Armenian Apostolic Church) is a professor at the Université St Esprit in Kaslik, Lebanon.

Sophie Deicha (Ecumenical Patriarchate) is a professor at St Sergius Theological Institute in Paris, France. She recently has been a Visiting Lecturer at the Catholic Institute in Paris.

Thomas FitzGerald (Ecumenical Patriarchate) is a professor at Holy Cross Greek Orthodox School of Theology in Brookline, Massachusetts, USA, and former Executive Director of the Programme Unit on Unity and Renewal at the World Council of Churches.

Kyriaki Karidoyanes FitzGerald (Ecumenical Patriarchate) is an author and lecturer on theology and spirituality. She has been a professor at Holy Cross Greek Orthodox School of Theology in Brookline, Massachusetts, and at St Vladimir's Orthodox Theological School in Crestwood, New York.

Aruna Gnanadason (Church of South Africa) is the coordinator of the Women's Programme and the Justice, Peace and Creation Team of the World Council of Churches.

Dimitra Koukoura (Church of Greece) is a professor at the School of Theology of the University of Thessaloniki, Greece.

Leonie B. Liveris (Ecumenical Patriarchate) is the founder and editor of the journal MaryMartha.

Mother Maria [Rule] (Russian Orthodox Church) writes and speaks on the questions of women and ecumenical relationships and translates the works of Bishop Nikolai Velimirovich. She has lived in Serbia and now resides in London.

Constantina Peppa (Church of Greece) is an instructor of religion for secondary schools in Athens, Greece.

Teny Pirri-Simonian (Armenian Apostolic Church) is executive secretary for Church and Ecumenical Relations of the World Council of Churches.

Despina D. Prassas (Ecumenical Patriarchate) is a doctoral candidate in historical theology at the Catholic University of America.

Christina Shaheen Reimann (Patriarchate of Antioch) is a retreat leader, lecturer and educator in Orthodox communities in North America.

Ekaterina Shibayeva (Russian Orthodox Church) is a student in the Moscow Theological Institute.

Shanti Verghese (Malankara Orthodox Syrian Church in India) is an advocate for women's concerns in India.

Maha Milki Wehbe (Patriarchate of Antioch) is the coordinator of the women's programme of the Middle East Council of Churches, Beirut, Lebanon.

Constantinos N. Yokarinis (Church of Greece) is a professor at the Department of Education at the University of Athens.

Valerie Zahirsky (Orthodox Church in America) is a writer of Orthodox religious education materials and curricula; she also writes and speaks on topics concerning families and women in the church.